Retail Display Units by ACEnet

Why Carry Local Products?

Your customers are asking for them! Consumers want local products because of their small batch, high quality standards. As an added benefit, when you buy local, you strengthen the local economy by keeping dollars circulating in our communities.

What is Food We Love?

Food We Love is a marketing campaign that brands regional products under its umbrella. Group branding allows small businesses to pool resources to increase recognition for regional foods in the community as well as increasing the products marketing impact.

Service

ACEnet will be responsible for the implementation of the units as well as stocking. Marketing photos with client stories, displayed on the side ends of the units give customers a chance to become acquainted with each of the featured businesses

Food We Love Display Units

Single as well as double sided display units have been built to showcase these regional products. Please call to check on availability.

Who is the Appalachian Center for Economic Networks (ACEnet)?

ACEnet is a not-for-profit business incubator located in Athens, Ohio. ACEnet consists of three sectors: ACEnet Ventures which provides microbusiness loans, Food Ventures which provides technical assistance, a shared use commercial kitchen, and a thermal processing facilities; and Business Innovation which provides entrepreneurial training along with technology resources.

Featured Products

All Food We Love items available for retail display units are shelf stable (thermally processed) products, meaning product rotation and spoilage will not be issues. All products are manufactured and bottled locally at the Appalachian Center for Economic Networks (ACEnet), a licensed thermal processing facility. Food We Love products represent a wide range of clients from lifestyle businesses to low-income families to local restaurants.

Prices

For the retailers convenience, one invoice will be issued for all products purchased for the Food We Love display unit. Display units are rented free-of-charge to retailers purchasing enough product to fill the unit. In exchange for the free displays, retailers must agree to maintain the condition of each unit and stock each unit with FWL products exclusively.
